Sherwin-Williams® Coil Coatings WeatherXL™ Metal America is proud to partner with Sherwin-Williams Coil Coatings, the leading manufacturer of coil coating in the United States.

Metal America brings you top-tier metal siding with the advanced WeatherXL™ coil coating. Every component of our products is designed with sustainability in mind by enabling durable, long-lasting structures that resist the need for repair or replacement. WeatherXL™, a unique silicone-modified polyester (SMP) resin system, is engineered for residential, agricultural, and commercial construction.

Our two-coat system offers exceptional resistance to stains, abrasions, and metal marking. This coating ensures your metal withstands fabrication, transit, and construction challenges, reducing the risk of cracking and marring. Enhanced with inorganic ceramic pigments, WeatherXL™ is renowned for its superior weatherability, consistent color quality, and resistance to fading and chalking.

Sherwin-Williams® and WeatherXL™ are trademarks of SWIMC LLC.

* Please note that colors displayed may not precisely match the actual material. It's essential to verify all colors using physical material samples. Any discrepancies between color representations and actual materials should not be considered grounds for rejection. Metal samples are readily available upon request.
